

Dear Sir/Madam,

Job Creation: Survey of Households in India

PHD Research Bureau, the research arm of PHD Chamber is conducting a survey of households across the States to know about the new job opportunities created in India over the last five years- 2014 to 2018. The survey study pertains to assess the responses of households across Indian States with respect to the nature of jobs created, the sector in which the jobs are created, the male-female ratio in job creation and the age group that has attracted maximum jobs.

We therefore request you to kindly share your views on the same. A structured questionnaire has been designed and enclosed for your valuable inputs. The link of the structured questionnaire is appended for your kind feedback.

Please note that the information revealed in the survey would be kept strictly confidential and analysis will be done only in the aggregates. The information is being used only for research purpose. We appreciate your time and effort to complete the questionnaire.
