Mining & Steel Conclave

Realising Mining Potential of Chhattisgarh through Sustainable Mining

1st March 2025 | Hotel Babylon International, Raipur

Chhattisgarh is one of the India's youngest and fastest growing States. Mega mineral based industries like steel, aluminum & cement are functional in the State.

A home for major industries, the state of Chhattisgarh has low power generation cost due to pit head power units and its central location helps easy power transmission. Chhattisgarh hosts a wide variety of minerals found associated with igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic rock formation. A few of them form large economic deposits while a number of other minerals are reported as occurrences. Large deposits of Coal, Iron ore, Limestone, Dolomite and Bauxite are located in parts of the State. The state has been for being the iron and steel hub of the country.

Bountiful nature has bestowed Chhattisgarh with vast reserves of all important minerals. Recognizing the pivotal role of mineral in the industrialization of the state, the government of Chhattisgarh has taken a number of policy decisions to eliminate procedural hindrances and to create the necessary environment, to allow entrepreneurship to grow, to develop and to thrive in this state.

Chhattisgarh's steel industry benefits from a well-established infrastructure for sourcing and transporting raw materials, making it a key hub for steel production in India. The state has abundant reserves of iron ore, coal, and limestone, which are essential for steelmaking. Efficient rail and road networks, along with proximity to key mining regions, ensure seamless movement of raw materials to production facilities. The development of dedicated freight corridors and improved logistics systems further enhance connectivity, reducing transportation costs and ensuring timely supply. These factors collectively position Chhattisgarh as a competitive and resource-rich destination for the steel industry.

Hosted by PHD Chamber of Commerce and Industry (PHDCCI), the “Chhattisgarh Mining & Steel Conclave” underscores the urgency of aligning the state's mining sector with the principles of Growth and Sustainability. By fostering innovation, ensuring environmental protection, and prioritizing community welfare, this summit aims to chart a course for a mining industry that supports long-term prosperity while safeguarding the environment for future generations. The theme calls for collective action to ensure that mining continues to be a force for positive economic transformation without compromising the health of ecosystems or local communities.

OBJECTIVES:

- Facilitating Dialogue: Bringing together government officials, industry leaders, environmental experts, and local communities to discuss policies, challenges, and opportunities in sustainable mining.
